

Larry Flowers
National Renewable Energy Laboratory

Mr. Flowers has held various management positions at the National Renewable Energy Laboratory for the past 26 years.

Since 1990, he has been a team leader at NREL's National Wind Technology Center in Boulder, Colorado.

His current assignment is the National Technical Director of Wind Powering America, a U.S. Department of Energy program launched in 1999 to dramatically increase the deployment of wind in the United States.

WPA focuses on states and institutions that have dramatically underutilized their wind resources.

Prior to WPA, Mr. Flowers led NREL's international Village Power program and the NWTC's hybrid systems technology project and was involved with NREL's business development, buildings sciences, utility systems, solar thermal, and industrial applications.

He has an MBA from the University of Denver and a BS in metallurgical engineering and materials sciences from Lehigh University.

He enjoys fly-fishing and whitewater rafting in the Rockies.
